

The Risk-Free Consultation Agreement

For a fee ($50) the client is provided one hour of consultation from an agent at Fully Defiant. During this time, the client will discuss his/her website needs as they pertain to his/her business, organization, or other endeavor.

The agent may determine during the course of the call that some follow-up research will be needed to provide an adequate solution for the client. This additional research time is included in the Risk-Free Consultation.

Following the consult, the Agent will send a custom solution to the client via email.

This plan may suggest using Fully Defiant's services. If this is the case, the fee ($50) will be deducted from the project's cost.

Our agent may determine that an alternative provider would be better suited to provide your web needs. We will ensure a smooth transition to that provider, including a point of contact whenever possible.

Our Guaranty

Should we fail to provide you with a plan and a provider, or you feel that our process doesn't add value to your search for a web services provider, your fee ($50) will be refunded to you. You have 72 hours from the receipt of your custom solution to request a refund.